Internet & Satellite Broadcasts. L&M provides the tools and services necessary for live Internet broadcasts and streaming content to a global audience via the Internet. Our solutions incorporate mission-critical features including redundant networks, toll-free customer support, and the most reliable data pathways in the industry.

Meetings & AV Support. Our staging abilities and AV support for Workshops and Trade shows have played a major role in satisfying our clients for decades. Our network of equipment and staff of technicians allow us to provide convenient, quality service to our clients. We have mastered all media and formats, special effects, lighting, sound and set design; and produced projects capitalizing on all our large-scale staging competencies.

Video & Film Production. From concept design to packaging and duplication, L&M provides broadcast quality productions for an array of viewers. Concept design, script writing, research, location & studio production, on-camera talent, actors, graphics, animations, music (original or library), editing and effects all contribute to delivering on target, award-winning programs.

Website Design & Development. With our digital computer graphic systems, Internet experience and marketing expertise, L&M can create a home for your organization on the World Wide Web. Your web page is designed to be an integral part of your marketing program.

Marketing & PR Services. Offering a full range of award-winning marketing, media, and public information services, L&M is especially adept at combining emerging technologies with traditional skills such as clear writing and excellent design to market services and disseminate information. We develop strategic plans and branding strategies that are consistent with the strategic approach and message utilizing media and PR campaigns to disseminate information.

Multimedia & CD/DVD Production. L&M can produce visual support for any presentation that will provide maximum impact through the use of our in-house computer-based technology, CD/DVD production, and video. Our state-of-the-art system combines traditional still graphics and photography with the 3-D computer animation and special effects.

Entertainment & Special Events. It takes creativity, experience, and personality to make an entertainment event successful. L&M provides turnkey services including: entertainment booking, contract and rider requirements, thematic development, site selection, decor design and event coordination
